

Four More Join 25-Year Club

The Potomac State Faculty Club's annual spring dinner will be held at the Cumberland Shrine Club on Friday, April 23, at which time four members will be accepted into the 25-Year Club upon marking a quarter century of service to the college.

The honored guests will be Prof. Walter Boone, Prof. Helen C. Criner, Prof. Paul F. Iverson, and Prof. William E. Michael. Another member of the staff, Dewey Rotruck, will also be marking his 25th year on campus but was honored separately. (See separate story).

Prof. Boone, who has an A.B. degree from Bridgewater College and an M.A. from Bucknell University is chairman of the chemistry department.

Miss Criner, who is associate professor of business administration and the college's registrar and director of admissions, has a B.S. degree from West Virginia University and an M. L. degree from the University of Pittsburgh.

A graduate of Hastings College, where he received his A.B.

degree, Iverson is Professor and chairman of the college mathematics department. He also has a B.D. degree from Union Theological Seminary.

Prof. Michael, who is chairman of biological sciences, has a B.S. degree from Alderson-Broadus College and an M.S. from W.V.U. He has long been sponsor of the campus Circle K and CYF.

Alumni Boards Meet to Discuss Proposed Project

Board members of both the Alumni Association and the Alumni Foundation met jointly recently for a series of meetings to discuss a proposal by Dr. Harold C. Doster that the alumni consider the establishment of an Alumni House on or near the college campus.

At a meeting on March 4 both boards unanimously agreed that they not consider acquisition of an alumni house at this time due to the lack of finances.

However, the two boards did agree to join with the college in the active pursuit and development of a Center for Continued Education and Recreation to include alumni facilities as part of the proposed gymnasium/coliseum for Potomac State College.

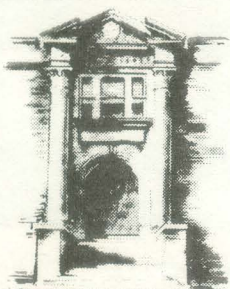

Woodard Slated For Graduation Address May 9

Chancellor Prince E. Woodard, president of the Board of Regents, will be speaker for Potomac State's annual commencement exercises set for 2:30 p.m. on Mother's Day, May 9.

Dr. Harold C. Doster, executive dean, said that a total of 102 students are tentatively scheduled to receive their diplomas, including 12 who completed their course of study at the end of the first semester.

Since many of the graduates are from the Keyser area and in view of the fact that many students are interested in being with their parents on Mother's Day, the college has chosen to abandon the traditional sermon to the graduates. Instead, members of

Radio Show Being Heard Each Week

Keyser's radio station, WKLP-1390, in its continuing effort to provide more comprehensive community news, has initiated a program concerning Potomac State College. The program, dubbed "Potomac State Roundtable," is a 15-minute broadcast heard on Saturdays at 12:45 p.m.

The show contains news from Potomac State College, as well as interesting discussions and interviews. Jamie Dorsey, sophomore journalism major from Keyser and WKLP announcer, is host of the program, along with Dr. Harold C. Doster, dean of Potomac State.

Alumni Urged To Lend Support To Foundation Drive

The Potomac State Alumni Foundation, Inc., launches its 1971 campaign this month with an appeal for gifts such as monetary contributions, stocks, bonds, bequests from wills, real estate, or other negotiable instruments.

The Foundation now has $12,500 in trust. At a recent meeting of the board of directors, two scholarships for a freshman and a sophomore student were approved.

All former students are invited to make a contribution, large or small, to this important area of our alumni program. If each person were to send a donation, the capabilities of the foundation would be greatly increased.

Enrollment This Semester At 665

Enrollment for the second semester at Potomac State totals 581 full-time and 83 special students, for a total of 665, according to Prof. Helen C. Criner, registrar.

The freshman class numbers 338 (235 men and 103 women) while there are 243 sophomores (155 men and 88 women).

This year's total tops last spring's figure of 616. That number included 304 freshmen, 254 sophomores, and 58 special students.

Officials at Potomac State College are still awaiting word on their request for a grant in the neighborhood of $100,000 made under Title III of the Higher Education Act of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare.

The bill requests federal funds to help carry out four campus programs in cooperation with three other area institutions with each one exercising the lead in one of these areas: student service, Allegany Community College of Cumberland; institutional research, Hagerstown Community College; learning resources and mediated instruction, Potomac State College; ecology and environmental studies, Frostburg State College.

The student service program would have provisions for the hiring of a program director for the Student Union—a person who would supervise extra-curricular activities with a similar degree of professional leadership as that in the classrooms. A person would also be employed for a part-time position in institutional research—to do a better job of providing backup information and for administration of programs in long range and short term planning. This individual would provide backup capability in mediated instruction so that the faculty would have various resources, such as audio-visual aids, at its fingertips. Assuming the lead in studying Potomac State's part in the development of comprehensive and/or joint curriculum in the field of environmental studies is the college's Dean James T. Handlan.

Potomac State had a similar grant three years ago which enabled the establishment of the Counseling Center.

Summer Session

Plans at the present time call for two terms of the summer session to be offered at Potomac State College according to Academic Dean James T. Handlan.

The first semester will begin June 14 and continue through July 14. The second semester will run from July 15 to August 13.

All inquiries regarding registration or classes may be directed to the Office of the Registrar.

Two of his freshman players, Angelo Luvara and Robin Hanni, were named to the All-Region football team, and All-Conference Honorable Mention went to Rick Trickett, John Bord, Randy DeBastiani, as well as Luvara.

Basketball fared a little better under the tutelage of Coach Larry G. Bolyard. The Catamounts had their first winning season since 1965 with a record of 12 wins and 8 losses.

Both coaches are actively recruiting players for next year. Former students are invited to refer prospects to the appropriate coach.

Campus Magazine To Appear Soon

The first issue of the college creative magazine, "P.S.", is scheduled to appear on the campus this semester, according to Dr. William Simpson, the advisor.

The magazine will contain poems, short prose selections written by students and an excerpt from Prof. Orval J. Anderson's play, "Encounters."

Original works being submitted will possibly be published in future issues of "P.S."

The magazine has been delayed because of publication difficulties but the staff announces that it will appear momentarily in mimeographed form.

Death Claims Former Dean Frank Mauzy

Frank Mauzy, 79, former academic dean and professor of history and political science at Potomac State College, died January 12 at Northern Virginia Doctor's Hospital in Arlington where he had been a patient for a month.

A native of Riverton, W. Va., he was the son of the late Michael and Rebecca (Farris) Mauzy.

After completing studies at Fairmont in 1914 he attended Bridgewater (Va.) College for a year and then entered West Virginia University where he received an AB in 1918.

He later served in the U. S. Army for a year, did two years of teaching at Weston and pursued graduate studies at Columbia University where he was granted an MA in June 1922.

Succeeding David A. Christopher as Academic Dean of Potomac State, he served in that post from the fall of 1922 until late in 1936 under the late Joseph W. Stayman who was then president of the college. Upon leaving Potomac State he was succeeded by the late K. S. McKee.

In 1942 he began a 20-year period of service with the U. S. Government in Washington, where from 1942-44 he was with the Division of Personnel, U. S. Navy Department; from 1942-44 with the Bureau of Yards and Docks; and 1946 until his retirement in 1962 with the Office of Industrial Relations.

Mr. Mauzy served 1936-42 with the West Virginia Employment Service, the first four years as manager of the Keyser District Office and then in the state office in Charleston.

Services were conducted in Arlington prior to burial in Franklin, W. Va.

Mr. Mauzy is survived by his wife, Mrs. Margery (Nelson) Mauzy, and a daughter, Miss Rebecca Mauzy, at home (308 South Court House Road, Arlington, Va. 22204); a son, Michael P. Mauzy, of St. Louis, Mo.; a half-brother, a half-sister; and three grandchildren.

DOAK, '41, Colonial Heights, Md., retiring with the rank of colonel, received retirement honors marking the end of his more than 20 years of military service at a colorful ceremony recently at Fort Lee, Va. At the time of his retirement he was assigned as project officer for "Project People" and executive assistant to Maj. Gen. John D. McLaughlin, commanding general, U. S. Army Quartermaster Center and Fort Lee. A native of Cumberland, Doak entered the Army in September 1941. Having participated in three wars, Col. Doak served overseas in France and Germany during World War II; in Korea during the Korean conflict, and finally in Vietnam.

WILLIAM WENDELKEN, formerly assigned to the ROTC staff at Potomac State College, is presently doing accounting work in Memphis and attending graduate school in the evenings.

Faculty Alumnus Authors Dramas

Prof. Orval J. Anderson '39, chairman of the English department, wrote a prose-poetry drama entitled "Encounters," which premiered in late October at the Church-McKee Arts Center. Prof. Harry R. Smith, college business manager, collaborated with Prof. Anderson on the prose dialogue.

The play centers on the life of a young man named Robin and his various encounters with people from birth to eventual maturity. It is designed to awaken the audiences' imagination to the encounters of love and hate that the young man experiences.

Profs. Anderson and Smith have also co-authored another drama, "So Close to the Trees," which has not yet been performed. They are currently working on two other pieces, "The House Is Dark Tonight" and "See You In September."

The two former plays are being read by several Eastern theaters with a view to production.

Potomac State May Join New College System

"Mum" seems to be the word as college officials and other interested parties anxiously await the news on Potomac State possibly becoming part of a new state-wide system of junior (two year) and community colleges.

This information was received by Chancellor Prince E. Woodard of West Virginia University in November in a letter from the Board of Regents and passed on to Dr. Harold C. Doster during a meeting of the West Virginia Association of Colleges and Universities held in Charleston.

The proposed system would operate exactly as the already existing four-year college system does, having its own Advisory Board and answering to the Board of Regents.

It would probably be composed of seven member colleges including Potomac State, Parkersburg, Williamson, Logan, Greenbriar, Wheeling, and Weirton.

Faculty Honors Staff Members

Two members of the college staff were recently honored at a dinner at the Old Homestead in Burlington.

Honorees were Dewey V. "Junior" Rotruck, in celebration of his 25th year of service as a member of the Maintenance staff, and Lester E. Dawson, night watchman for the past 21 years, who has retired.

Prof. Larry G. Bolyard, basketball coach, was the speaker, and served as co-chairman with Prof. Kenneth F. Haines, chairman of the event. Dr. Elizabeth A. Atwater presented gifts from the college staff to each gentleman.

Mr. Rotruck has now assumed the duties of night security officer on the campus. His replacement as custodian in the gymnasium is Richard "Smokey" Householder.

Many Return to Make Homecoming, Parents Day Highly Successful Events

A candid look at events on campus during Homecoming 1970 included such sights as Mrs. Mary Evelyn Coffman chatting with two former students — a quartet from the Class of 1945 deciding where to sit at the alumni luncheon — Mrs. Coffman admiring the flower arrangement designed for the head table by Miss Mary F. Shipper, librarian.

Mrs. Helen Jones, secretary to the chief executive officer and an alumna, herself, derives pleasure in serving the Homecoming Queen Lana McLaughlin at the after-game reception which also afforded the photographer an opportunity to snap Don and Eloise (Oates) Wilson, both from the Class of 1950, displaying their yearbook to their daughter, Linda, now a freshman cheerleader for the Catamounts.

In the bottom row, the new Executive Dean, Harold C. Doster, greets two of the many parents who visited the campus for Parents' Day . . . while Bobby Callis and Betty Harper reminisce a bit — and the engaging Catamount offers a welcome to the hundreds who returned to their Alma Mater for the weekend events.

Another Homecoming has been recorded in the annals of Potomac State College and even the weatherman cooperated by making the 1970 one an event to be remembered as hundreds of former students, parents, and friends of the institution returned to the campus for the combined Homecoming-Parents Day Weekend, October 23-24.

Both parents and alumni gathered with the college staff on Saturday morning at the Student Union for a coffee hour, during which they were greeted by Dr. Harold C. Doster. There followed an hour and a half period during which faculty members were available in various offices and classrooms to meet parents and other visitors.

The Homecoming Luncheon at noon attracted an estimated 110 former students and staff members.

Six members of the Class of 1920 were present for their 50th anniversary celebration. Miss Myra M. Nefflin '09, Keyser, was presented as a representative of the oldest class in attendance. Also introduced were members from the Classes of 1913 and 1915; several from the Class of 1945 who came to celebrate their 25th anniversary, and the Classes of 1950 and 1951 later held a private reunion that evening during dinner at the Potomac Motel.

Prof. Kenneth F. Haines '50, president of the Alumni Association, conducted the business meeting and presided at the election of officers for both the Association and the Alumni Foundation. (See photos elsewhere in Newsletter).

Miss Lana McLaughlin, of Keyser, reigned as Miss Catamount XXXII and presided over the weekend activities. She was first introduced to the assembled crowd during the Pep Rally and cookout on Stayman Field on Friday afternoon which attracted a larger than usual number of people. This was followed by the homecoming parade, sponsored by Circle K, and the 4th annual Talent Showcase sponsored by the Players and the Stage Band in the Church-McKee Arts Center.

Miss McLaughlin's maids of honor were Miss Janet Ann Wagner, Lewistown, Pa., and Miss Candy Rotruck, of Keyser.

The campus royalty was presented again during halftime of the football game with Ferrum College. During these ceremonies the ROTC drill team and the marching band also performed. The queen was presented flowers by Theta Sigma Chi fraternity and was made an honorary
